CATHOLIC CORNER

All Saints' Day is a solemn holy day of the Catholic Church celebrated annually on November 1. The day is dedicated to the saints of the Church, that is, all those who have attained heaven. It should not be confused with All Souls' Day, which is observed on November 2, and is dedicated to those who have died and not yet reached heaven.

Although millions, or even billions of people may already be saints, All Saints' Day observances tend to focus on known saints –that is those recognized in the canon of the saints by the Catholic Church.

All Saints' Day is also commemorated by members of the Eastern Orthodox Church as well as some protestant churches, such as Lutheran and Anglican churches.

Saturday 2nd of November, All Souls' Day, The Commemoration of All the faithful Departed, is a Catholic Holy Day of Obligation, meaning all Catholics are required to attend Mass on that day. Mass is being celebrated at 10 am at St. Pius X Church.

ALL SAINTS DAY:

Whilst living in Budapest Hungary my family experience the tradition described below celebrated by the Hungarian Community.

Instead of Halloween, Hungarians head to the cemeteries for All Soul's Day

All Saints' Day and All Soul's Day in Hungary are holidays that address the dead in a rather different way to our Halloween celebrations.

Otherwise known as 'Halottak Napja' 'the day of the dead' or 'the day of remembrance', All Soul's Day and All Saints' Day are two of the more popular holidays in Hungary that people celebrate. It's a sentimental kind of national holiday in Hungary that lasts two days, the 1st and 2nd of November after fall has taken hold and the winter is soon upon us. In celebrating All Saints' Day and All Soul's Day the Hungarians first honor the dead saints and then go and visit the hallowed ground upon which their past family members have been laid to rest.

As a Catholic nation since the 11th century, Hungary takes the holiday to heart as public establishments close for the purpose of allowing people to travel to churches for services and/or for families to visit grave sites. At the churches in Hungary, Catholics pray and hold to the conviction that through prayer and self-denial the faithful can hasten the deliverance of souls from purgatory and into heaven. The prayers of living Catholics are believed to lighten the way for those living in purgatory.

Hungarians go to cemeteries with bright yellow chrysanthemums and light red votive candles to decorate the graves of their beloved departed. Some people even leave food and drinks for their prior loved ones. Special masses are held in many churches all over Hungary to uphold the memory of the Christian martyrs and saints. Sometimes a parish priest will say prayers and blessings at people's gravesites. The night of All Soul's Day is one of the biggest times for flower sellers, they line the entrances of the cemeteries making it easy to purchase flowers and candles burn brightly in the dark. If you don't have anyone to visit at the cemeteries that you know personally visit famous cemeteries like Kerepesi Cemetery coined a 'decorative' cemetery that contains ancient wooden graves known as 'kopfa' that date back to the original Magyars, carved boats symbolizing the journey down the river of death. Of the saints remembered in Hungary, two of the more popular were once members of the Arpad house, the first dynasty of the Hungarian kings and include, St. Stephen King and his son, St. Imre Prince. Another honored saint was from Venice and his name was St. Gerardo.
